Program Lifestyle

"This has been the best year of my life!" is the common theme from students who complete the Ocean Quest career training programs.

The program is conducted on the West Coast of British Columbia. British Columbia known for its relaxed life-style, beautiful scenery and world-class diving. You will have access to some of the best diving in the world! Past students have dove sites like the HMCS Annapolis a 371 ft. Destroyer Escort sunk as an artificial reef in Howe Sound. Shore dives such as Whytecliffe Park hosts a variety of marine life and diving areas including reef and wall dives. Whytecliff Park was the first marine park in Canada.

Your class mates will be instant dive buddies who share the same passion as for scuba as you do. Your will have access to unlimited diving throughout the year. Many students will log over 100 dives within the course.

Aside from diving, we see students form lifelong friendships as they progress through the program

Experienced Instruction

Ocean Quest is Canada's largest and most active PADI Instructor training facility. With over 30 years of instructor training experience, our training programs continue to grow and evolve. Ocean Quest integrates it's unique training approach into all of our programs. At the instructor level, we give our candidates insight on how to take diving and teaching diving to the next level which gives our graduates the tools to be more successful. Based out of Vancouver, BC, we have some of the best local diving in Canada.

Ocean Quest has issued well over 2200 instructor level certifications and over 10,000 certifications in all levels. Our professional staff continue to be enthusiastic for teaching and diving. Every year, our instructor staff make a strong effort to learn and evolve as instructors and as divers. We truly enjoy assisting our students to meet their goals as divers and professionals.

Cold Water Training

British Columbia has some of the best diving in the world. Being cold water trained will offer you many advantages over tropical training.

- Drysuit Diving – Drysuit diving requires more skills and mastery of buoyancy control. By completing all of your diving in a drysuit you will achieve a higher skill level than divers in the tropics.
- More Challenging Diving and Teaching Environment – Our local diving consists of cold water and variable visibility. This environment requires us to adjust the way we dive. We have to have better awareness of our depth, dive buddies and navigation. You will find that we teach many techniques that are specific to diving in our local environment that are not taught in other areas of the world. The techniques that you learn here, however, can be applied to anywhere you go.
- More Respect – Our instructors are highly respected around the world. We have a deliberate focus on quality instruction not on seeing how many instructors we can train in a year.

Ocean Quest has helped 100's of instructors find careers working with dive operations around the world!

Here are just a few random quotes from past graduates:

“Teaching Divemaster, Nitrox and Advanced tomorrow... did I really say I wanted to work this much??? YES!!!!”

“I got buzzed three times on a dive today by an eagle ray... so cool!!!”

“I met a director from National Geographic today. We watched one of his films then got to hear his comments and commentary on it. It was so cool!! I LOVE Bamfield :)”

“I got to help operate a ROV on a dive today!! We saw china, black, tiger, yellow eye, and blue rockfish. We also saw a wolf eel and a few massive ling cod. It was AWESOME!!!”

“Went on the boat yesterday with a group of DSD's, saw a sea turtle, spotted eagle ray and a 4 foot white tip reef shark!”

"Ocean Quest Career Dive program is the best I have yet to experience in my post secondary education. It was packed with extensive diving education and adventure. The instructors not only passed on their vast knowledge of the diving industry but also provided us with techniques to improve ourselves and our students. As a very hands on program, we spent most of our days out at dive sites, helping in the dive shop learning the tools of the trade and also went on some amazing dive trips. Using the tools we learned in the course it was very easy for me to find employment in the dive industry the Grand Caymans. I have always been complimented on my ability to dive and teach thanks to the mentoring provided by the entire Ocean Quest team."
